

At Brand Attention we believe that web design and web development are two sides of the same coin. Professional web design combines creative flair with extensive knowledge and expertise in development technology. This combination consistently delivers web sites that not only look fantastic, but work seamlessly to promote your brand online.

First impressions count

Research has shown that it takes people less than a second from opening a search engine link to decide whether to stay on your site or to leave. Creating pages that make that lasting impression in less than a second takes ingenuity and skill. Web designs need to catch people's attention fast, but also they need to nurture that initial interest.

As a potential customer starts browsing, eye-catching pages that present information and choices clearly, with simple navigation and accessibility options, are likely to entice them to stay longer and return often.
